- No one is on Parliament Hill, approx. 500-700 people on the surrounding streets
- This afternoon there was an update on the unlawful protest from Ottawa Police Interim Chief Steve Bell, along with OPP Deputy Commissioner Chris Harkins and RCMP Deputy-Commissioner Federal Policing Mike Duheme:
- The ongoing police operations began last night with the establishment of the Secured Area and several police checkpoints
- Overnight and throughout the day, there have been several arrests of convoy organizers
- This morning the public order units were deployed to Nicholas and the protesters were given several opportunities to leave on their own
- Several arrests were made and trucks were towed
- The public order units then moved to Rideau and Sussex
- At this point in the operation, there have been well over 70 arrests, and more than 21 vehicles towed out of the downtown core
- There have been no injuries to protesters, 1 minor injury to police resources
- The City of Ottawa is working to remediate and return the areas to the community
- Several children have been seen among the protesters and there is a plan in place to ensure the safety of the children
- This police operation is methodical, and very well resourced thanks to policing partners from across the country
- It will run slowly and purposefully 24 hours a day until the City has been returned to its citizens
- CBSA are announcing that all points of entry are open and clear
- There is an update on status of the interprovincial bridges:
 - Macdonald-Cartier Bridge is open
 - Alexandra Bridge is closed
 - Portage Bridge southbound is closed while northbound is open but all corridors leading to it are closed
 - Chaudière Bridge is open
 - Champlain Bridge is open
